In detail

22.1 Data protection declaration

The following provisions apply in the field of the use of your personal data during the "Ascona-Locarno Run".

22.2 What data do we process?

In order for your event registration to be valid, you must fill in each field of the form marked with an * correctly. In addition to yourself, you can also register other people. In this case we consider that you are authorised to register these third parties. If underage runners are registered by third parties, the organiser assumes that the consent of the legal representatives has been obtained. In the case of online registration, your e-mail address is obligatory for the confirmation of your registration and for any additional questions we may have. Furthermore, providing your mobile phone number and e-mail address will enable you to receive information about the event as soon as possible.

The use of personal data is governed by the data protection declaration (www.ascona-locarno-run.ch/data-protection). The runner undertakes to make the personal data of third parties available to the organiser only if they or their legal representatives are familiar with the applicable data protection declaration and are authorised to do so in accordance with the applicable data protection law. The organiser may at any time require the participant to prove the existence of these conditions - in particular the consent of third parties - within a specified period and may otherwise withdraw from all contracts without further ado.

22.3 Handling of your personal data

We use the services of an external specialist company to ensure the success of the event and to store and manage your data digitally. This company processes your personal data on our behalf and in confidence.

The companies that work for us for the organisation and execution of events, the processing of registrations (online, offline), the management of participant data, the recording of times, the compilation of results, the processing of starting numbers, the recruitment of participants and the processing of information and data, work on our behalf and solely for our purposes. In accordance with the law, we are obliged to monitor the data processing by these companies and to oblige them not to process the data for their own purposes or to pass it on to third parties.

Depending on the timing company, all runners must open an account with this company. The data protection declarations and general terms and conditions of the respective company (Datasport AG <https://www.datasport.com>) shall apply to the processing of accounting data.

22.4 Authorisation to process data

With your registration, you authorise the organisers to publish your first name, surname, date of birth, place of residence, bib number, race time and race rank. This authorisation is valid for publication on the internet as well as in the various media (newspapers, television, teletext and announcements made by the race announcer).

Films and photos taken during the event may be used on television, on the internet, in our advertising channels, in magazines and books without any right of compensation on the part of the individual competitor.

23. Photographs

By registering, the participant (and, if he is a minor, his legal representative) expressly authorises the organisation to take, or have taken by third parties on his behalf, and publish photographs and videos showing him (including close-ups). The participant understands and accepts that photographs and videos depicting him/her may be disseminated worldwide.

The participant is not entitled to any compensation or remuneration for the photographs or videos of him/her.

In the event that a participant withdraws consent, he or she shall be obliged to compensate for any damage resulting from such withdrawal (e.g. costs of already printed advertising material, costs of removal and replacement of images, ...). The participant shall, however, be aware that images that have already been published in print media may no longer be retrieved and that images published on the Internet are quickly copied, shared and saved on multiple media, where they may no longer be deleted.

In the case that the organisation has to cancel the event:

Participants are free to take out insurance cover.

25. Exemption from liability

The participant, by registering and consequently accepting these regulations, declares that he/she assumes all risks and damages resulting from participation in the races (e.g. health, injuries, falls, contacts/collisions with vehicles, with other participants, volunteers, spectators and others, phenomena related to weather conditions, road surface, etc.). He therefore expressly exempts the organiser and the individuals and partners involved in organising the sporting event from any liability for any damage arising from participation in the events.

The organiser declines all liability towards spectators and third parties.

26. Changes to the regulations

The organisers reserve the right to modify these regulations at any time for reasons they deem appropriate for the better organisation of the race. Any changes will be communicated to the participants or published on the website www.ascona-locarno-run.ch.

These regulations and the contract between the parties shall be governed by Swiss law, and any dispute arising between the parties in relation to them shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the Locarno-Campagna court.

For the purposes of dispute resolution or in the event of problems of interpretation or differences between language versions, the Italian version shall prevail.

The organiser of the event is the Ascona-Locarno Run Association.
